

Yvonne King

Practice Manager

A Mainlander from Christchurch, Yvonne King met Dennis when they were both working in Invercargill. The couple married, settled in Taranaki and together raised two children who as adults now are also involved in law.

Yvonne is a stalwart of equestrian activities in the region, working towards the establishment of the Waitara equestrian centre, and supporting emerging, talented equestrians by organizing numerous local, regional and international events. The dedication and the commitment required for success in the sport, she believes, are equally applicable to success in law.

Yvonne also brings to her role her skills as a trained teacher, and experience in accountancy, law and management, and as Executive Officer for the Taranaki Masonic Trust and Tainui Village for a number of years. It is her task to ensure that Dennis King Law remains at the leading edge of technology by updating legal research and management software tools, and to see that the practice maintains top client service.
