Registered Legal Executive

Debbie Masters believes “you never get a second chance to make a good first impression”. As a registered legal executive, making a good first impression with her clients is important to her. Born and educated in New Plymouth, Debbie began her career in law as a legal secretary in 1984 and now has 12 years experience as a legal executive and was made a Fellow of the NZ Institute of Legal Executives in 2007. Her practice includes residential and commercial conveyancing, mortgage re-financing, wills and enduring powers of attorney, estate administration, family trusts and estate planning, company formation and commercial leases. She is an enthusiastic member of the Inglewood Golf Club, City Sounds Choir and regularly attends the gym, and applies the same determination and dedication to her leisure pursuits that she brings to her work.
